Handwritten text in Devanagari script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The script is cursive and somewhat faded, characteristic of older handwritten documents. The content appears to be a formal record or a letter, possibly related to administrative or legal matters, given the structured nature of the lines and the use of certain characters that suggest official language.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or document, written on aged, yellowed paper. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in a different script or language than others, possibly indicating a mix of languages or a specific dialect. The handwriting is fluid and characteristic of the 18th or 19th century.

Handwritten text in Burmese script, consisting of approximately 10 lines. The text is written in a cursive style on aged paper. The content appears to be a historical record or a list of items, possibly related to a military or administrative context, given the use of terms like 'တပ်' (army) and 'သား' (son/child). The script is dense and fills most of the page.
